

CAREER ADVICE

Worked in a warehouse drove a fork lift Stacked liquor cases on the midnight shift Scrambled eggs in very short order Just north of the Mexican California border

Sprayed fake snow on Christmas trees Dug sign post holes and made Dairy Queens Sold GIQ's to more than a few Ate tar and gravel paving roads and bridges too

But through it all I learned a lesson or two Some words of wisdom I'll share with you
It's career advice that I sure hope will stick...just don't be a dick

No matter the job no matter the pay I learned you gotta show up every single day Whether changing out the urinal cakes Or diverting sludge from the valve intakes

Now your a job can be replaced by robotics
They don't need healthcare or antibiotics That shitty job can be shipped over seas
To keep it you may have to get down on your knees

Through it all I learned a lesson here or there Some words of wisdom that are too good not to share
It's career advice that I sure hope will stick...just don't be a dick

If you're a boss or an owner, don't be a jerk Maybe offer employees a couple of perks Like free coffee and no knives in the back And once a month, an afternoon snack

In the workplace lying and cheating gets rewarded
So make sure all your conversations are recorded

There'll be times you want to scream and yell Times you want to tell them to just go straight to...

Well ...you can always learn a lesson or two...
Some words of wisdom I'll share with you It's career advice I sure hope will stick...just don't be a dic-tating, irritating,
infuriating,
ingratiating, exasperating exaggerating, emasculating, calculating,
sex-baiting,
favor-trading,
all the fun confiscating...
It's is career advice I sure hope will stick just don't be a dick.
